

Weddings InStyle

Dream Dresses That Suit Your Style

NEW WAYS TO WEAR YOUR HAIR

Get Glowing Skin Now!

Cakes
You'll Love

STRESS LESS &
SAVE MONEY P.157

Diamond
Giveaways!

Enter at InStyle
Weddings.com
No Purchase Necessary

SPRING 2009
InStyle Special Issue Display Until June 5

$5.99US $6.99CAN

InStyleWeddings.com

LIFE STAR
SARAH SHAHI

personalize it!

Designers Trade Fabric for Fondant

With the help of top N.Y.C. bakers, four hot fashion designers turn their Spring '09 looks into dream wedding cakes

BY STEPHANIE DAVILA

BLACK LABEL
SPRING 2009

pastel garden with flowers
contour frock w/ Swarovski
crystal embellishment

A rendering from Tracy Reese's
new collection.

Tracy Reese

This fondant bow
was crafted by baker
Ron Ben-Israel.

personalize it!

Catherine Malandrino

The French-American designer celebrates her company's 10th anniversary with a collection featuring elegant neutrals, soft textures and barely there layers

INSPIRATION

"For me, this dress is a way to present illusion—the shades of nude, light, sunrise, dusk—and to really veil and wrap the body in a very transparent way," says Malandrino.

Malandrino Spring '09 RTW

CATHERINE MALANDRINO

Minuit

FRENCH FOR "MIDNIGHT"

Sketch

Like the dress (far left), Malandrino's vision for the perfect wedding cake consists of a nude underlay topped with three intricate lace patterns.

Flavor

"It would be forêt noire [black forest] with the deep and intense taste of dark chocolate," she says.

"The dark chocolate glaze looks like fine lingerie."

—CATHERINE MALANDRINO

"The cake is an important symbol. It's something every guest will remember."

—CATHERINE MALANDRINO

CAKE BY RON BEN-ISRAEL